

Game Journal

Games are fun, and you can learn from them, too. Use this chart to write down your thoughts about the games you play and how they are helping you grow and learn.

Date	Game Played	Learning Target	Connections to Academic Learning	Connections to Social Emotional Learning
Example: 2/24/2021	Rack-o	Academic: I can order numbers from smallest to largest. SEL: I can take turns when I play games.	To play Rack-o, I had to draw cards and try to get my cards in order before my friends. I was able to get five in a row, but then my friend won.	Sometimes I get upset when I lose, but I am trying to be a good sport and say, "good game". Today when we played, I was able to take turns and remind my peer that it was their turn next.
